

Wesley A. Miller

Address

Department of Economics
Texas A&M University
428 TAMU, College Station, TX 77843

Contact

Email: wamiller@tamu.edu
Twitter: @Wesley_A_Miller

Research and Teaching Interests

Applied Microeconomics, Public and Environmental Economics, Urban and Crime Economics

Education

Ph.D. Economics, Texas A&M University, May 2023
M.S. Economics, University of Texas at El Paso, May 2016
B.B.A. Economics, University of Texas at El Paso, May 2014

Job Market Paper

Title: Estimating the Individual Effects of Natural Disasters: Evidence from Hurricane Harvey
Main Advisor: Dr. Jennifer Doleac
Other Advisors: Dr. Kalena Cortes, Dr. Jason Lindo, Dr. Jonathan Meer

Letter Writers

Dr. Jennifer Doleac - jdoleac@arnoldventures.org
Dr. Jonathan Meer - jmeer@tamu.edu
Dr. Jason Lindo - jlindo@gatech.edu

Research in Progress

Does Landlord Liquidation Lead to Tenant Turnover?
Quasi-Random Extensions of the Eviction Process: Effects on Landlords and Tenants.

Monthly Surveys

- Texas Manufactured Housing Survey (Collaboration with the Texas Manufactured Housing Association) - June 2020 to Present
- Texas Residential Mortgage Survey (Collaboration with the Texas Mortgage Bankers Association) - September 2020 to Present

Conference Presentations

2022

1. Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas: Emerging Trends in Real Estate Markets Post-COVID, “Texas Migration Trends: Impact on Single-Family Housing”
2. Freddie Mac Rural Research Symposium, “Estimating the Effects of Natural Disasters: Evidence from Hurricane Harvey”

3. Texas Manufactured Housing Convention, “2022 Review of the Texas Manufactured Housing Survey Results”

2021

1. Texas Manufactured Housing Convention, “2021 Review of the Texas Manufactured Housing Survey Results”

Other Work Experience

Senior Research Associate, Texas Real Estate Research Center, September 2021 to Present

Research Associate, Texas Real Estate Research Center, September 2018 through August 2021

Media Coverage

“Expert expects a surge in evictions as protections are lifted.” 06/08/2020, Dallas Business Journal